“ After a bit of a break from home play we return to Spectrum on Saturday against Dundee Stars then back on the road Sunday at Coventry. Last Saturday at Glasgow you might say we had a successful failure in that we lost in overtime to Clan, but we scored with just 3 seconds on the clock to get to the extra period while securing at least a point in the game. You never go anywhere to lose a game, but we will always take any points we can get from a contest so that was a valuable late goal to ensure we did not come away empty handed. We have not seen Dundee here since way back in October where it was a tough night losing a large lead eventually falling on penalties and losing Jake Coughler to long term injury. Jake will not be on the ice this weekend and is still on the long-term Injured Reserve list, but he is back skating now and we are hopeful that he will be able to re-join match action in the not too distant future. We have added a Defenceman so we are hoping James Shearer will make his debut and perhaps we can also get Sam Jones back, although we are not certain of that at time of writing. It has been a devastating injury run, and by far the worst we have ever experienced in club history, but we have to give credit to a lot of guys who have gutted this out and pulled more than their fair share of weight to help carry us through. There is a lot of character on this team, and we are hopeful that there might be a light starting to shine at the end of that very dark tunnel. Hopefully we can move down the back stretch with more options and more rest across the lineup to keep everyone fresh for the final run in. We hope you enjoy the pair of games ahead. ”
